Washington, DC 20240
202-208-5478 phone
202-273-0426 fax

\ When you return this registration form to the National Park Service, we will send you a guide to help you plan a March and will include information you submit (bold print above) in the schedule of National Park Week events that is published on the National Park Service website (www.nps.gov/npweek). In addition, the information may be included, as appropriate, in news releases and other publicity about National Park Week. Please let us know if any of the information about your event changes so we can make the necessary revisions to the public schedule.*

The National Park Service's role in March for Parks is to provide a clearinghouse for information for those committed to supporting the national system of federal, state, and local parks. The National Park Service is not responsible for the planning, organization or success of any March for Parks event. The only exception to this is a March sponsored by the National Park Service in support of a specific National Park (or group of National Parks)) or a March organized by a partner with the written authorization of the National Park Service and that will support a specific National Park (or group of National Parks).

Under the 10-year management of the National Parks Conservation Association, March for Parks events often had a fundraising component, providing valuable assistance to the parks that they supported. NPCA required March organizers to pledge that all money raised would be turned over to the park of their choice. This policy served the event well. Any fundraising component to a March must be done in compliance with park policy and applicable laws.
